

Character Analysis Using Chapter 2, “A New Day”

In a story, characters do things, say things, and go to places. They speak a certain way, laugh a certain way, and smile a certain way. They also may do many different things like sing, cry, laugh, jump, or swing. The actions of characters in stories tell us much about them.

When we talk about character traits, we are describing the characters that we read about. Much of the time, we use very descriptive adjectives to describe characters, such as “hilarious” or “scary”.

Fill out the following chart with (A) several personality traits dealing with the given character and (B) text evidence supporting your character personality traits

A. Character Name & Traits	B. Text Evidence
Clarisa:
Maribel:
Israel:
Juanito:
Señora Sanchez:	